

He has to be "tough" with them to remove their obstacles, but they interpret it as quarrelling with them - as though he would waste weary time in that form of amusement!

This is written at 2.30 a.m. for example & the weight of the 3,000,000,000 people in the world seems at such an hour very oppressive. Further he knows that not one of them can be trusted, or treated as a real friend until after their "awakening". They are treacherous in fact at some point.

I wonder if Jesus had one friend.

The world seems stranger to me perhaps than even to you. Perhaps I could find only 1 out of several tens of thousands who would understand this.

Why not tell me as much as you can of your early upbringing and religion & those things you have since studied & your opinion about them -- indeed "open up" about your real sentiments.

Cordially,

Alfred R. Pulyan,
